Message from the Principal

November is already here, which means Christmas break is just around the corner. This month is a great time to pause and reflect on everything happening around us and to appreciate all the things we have to be thankful for. It's also a time to gather with family and remember those who have served our country.

As a school, we are grateful for the hard work our students put in every day to receive the education they deserve. We also appreciate the parents, who are the first educators of our students. We are thankful to be part of a community that believes in our school and supports its efforts. Additionally, I want to express my gratitude for the teachers who dedicate countless hours to provide students with the best education possible.

So, in a time when everything seems to be moving at a million miles per hour, take a moment this month to slow down and appreciate all that we have in our life.

ANSEP

Sidney C. Huntington School is thrilled to announce that we are continuing our partnership with ANSEP. The upcoming ANSEP session will run from February 24 to March 4, 2025, and is open to 6th to 8th grade students who have not previously attended the program.

We have been promoting the program to all eligible students to prepare them for the application process, which will open in January. Six students will be selected by the ANSEP team to represent our school.

Students who attended last year may qualify for additional ANSEP programs during the summer. Once applications for these programs open, we will assist interested students in completing their applications.

ALICE Safety Protocol

In the next couple of weeks, the teachers will be giving lessons on ALICE. ALICE is an acronym composed of five different ways to respond to an emergency. Starting with letter A which stands for Alert, this option involves raising awareness about the threat by providing as much information as possible. Next, the letter L stands for Lockdown. The students and the staff lockdown and barricade the building rather than fleeing. This is often the best option in cases where evacuation is not possible due to safety reasons.

Next, the letter I stands for Inform. The students and the staff spread the word in real-time, giving as much information as they can. This is the step where they contact 911 and First Responders. C means Counter, and in this option, students are encouraged to stop the intruder from taking action rather than them being passive, usually by distracting them. This option is the last resort in situations where the intruder has entered the space where the students are. Finally, the letter E stands for Evacuate and involves exiting the building when it is safe to do so.

Although we hope to never need to use the training that students receive—much like a fire drill—we must be prepared. We will conduct a drill during November, which will be announced to all students and teachers with the specific day and time. Parents will also be informed of the exact date and time of the drill.

Teachers will have the option to choose between escape or barricade during the drill, and students will be informed about which option their class will participate in. Please be aware that for the elementary students, like the lessons, this will be a game-like drill intended to prepare not scare. If you have any questions, please feel free to call Principal Stringer.

Coming soon

Reading challenge time! Students will be challenged to read with their parents for 10 minutes each night, with the chance to win prizes given away during the Math and Literacy Night. Happy reading!
